We recommend the reading, with maximum care, of each item of the terms and conditions below. Full acceptance of each item is a requirement of your entry and participation in The Lumen Prize.

NOTE TO ENTRANTS

The Lumen Prize is owned by the Organiser, a not-for-profit company limited by guarantee and registered in England & Wales. All revenue from entries or other Organiser activities are used exclusively for organising the competition, the global tour and other events which meet The Lumen Prize's goal of raising the profile of digital art globally. The Board of Lumen Projects does not benefit in anyway from the revenue raised through entries or other activities.

ENTRY CONDITIONS

1.1 Only works registered through the website www.lumenprize.com will be accepted.

1.2 To register it is necessary to complete and submit the online Registration Form.

1.3 Individuals may enter as many works as they like. Two works may be submitted with each entry costing US$45 and each additional entry costing US$22.50. A series is understood as one work.

1.4 Works that have won other prizes are eligible for entry as long as the entrant retains ownership of the work.

1.5 The Organiser will not accept digitised versions of work done by traditional means such as oils, watercolours, pen and ink, etc, unless these versions have been artistically manipulated by computer software and this process is an intrinsic part of the work.

1.6 Photography is permitted where digital photo-manipulation is an intrinsic part of the work. Digital photography or scanned images can be entered if they have been artistically manipulated by computer software to produce images unattainable through conventional photographic processes.

1.7 Work must be created, at least in part, on digital devices such as tablets, digital cameras, smartphones or computers. We will accept physical art works if a digital element is a significant factor in the concept or execution of the work, i.e. entries for the 3D/ Sculpture and Interactive prizes.

The entrant shall provide a link to the works via Vimeo or YouTube in HD. Entries with sound are welcome but the entrant must own the copyright to the sound used. If the sound is created by another individual, permission must be granted and credit given.

If your work is site-specific, please identify the site where the work was installed and whether a miniature or scaled-down version could be created for Lumen Prize shows.

Stills: Please upload files in JPEG or PNG format at 1MB or less.

1.9 Candidates shortlisted for The Lumen Prize will be asked to provide images or videos in high resolution for Lumen Prize events.

institution. Prizes are paid in US Dollars. Currency conversions to local currency are at the winners' choice at the time of conversion.

1.11 The payment of the entry fee should be made via PayPal. The entry fee must be paid prior to uploading artwork. If you would prefer to pay by bank transfer, please contact info@lumenprize.com.

1.13 Call for Entries may be extended at the discretion of the Organiser.

SELECTION OF WORKS

2.1 An International Selection Committee of gallery owners, curators, artists and academics will choose works for display on The Lumen Prize online gallery. For the full list of the ISC panelists, please contact info@lumenprize.com. The Longlist will be announced on July 11th in London. Please check the website for more details.

2.2 A public vote of those chosen for the Longlist will be launched and promoted by the Organiser as the People's Choice Award in August 2017. Any cases of spam or computer-generated voting detected will immediately disqualify the entry deemed to be benefiting from this activity. The work receiving the most votes from the public will win The Lumen Prize People's Choice Award 2017 and receive a cash prize of US$250. In the unlikely event of a draw, the Lumen Jury Panel will select the winner.

2.3 The Lumen Jury Panel will select a Shortlist of 25 works and the top cash prize winners. The Winners will be announced on September 21st at a ceremony in London, England.

2.4 The notification to successful entrants will be made individually by the Organiser via the e-mail address specified on the Registration Form. Artists whose works have not qualified for the Longlist will not be individually notified. If your work has not been included in the Longlist, we regret that we do not have the resources to provide feedback.

2.5 Entrants may at any time notify the Organiser at info@lumenprize.com if they wish to remove their work(s) from the competition after submission and, if they are selected, before the online publication of The Lumen Longlist in September. Please note that once a work has been submitted, the entrance fee will not be refunded, even where the work is subsequently removed (whether by the Organiser or the entrant).

2.6 Once selected for the Lumen Shortlist, artists are eligible for a range of opportunities regardless of whether their work wins one of the Lumen Prizes. These include participation in Lumen Prize shows and events over the next 12 months and shows beyond the year they entered. Selected Longlisted works are also eligible for display at venues over the next 12 months but the decision for inclusion will be at the discretion of the Organiser. Curation of each show will vary from location to location.
